Re: Special Access for Price Cap Local Exchange Carriers, WC Docket No. 05-25

Dear Ms. Dortch:

Andrew Fisher and the undersigned of Comcast Corporation (“Comcast”) and Emily Daniels of Lawler, Metzger, Keeney & Logan, LLC, outside counsel to Comcast, met on September 7, 2012 with Nicholas Alexander, William Layton, Elizabeth McIntyre, Pamela Megna, Eric Ralph, Deena Shetler, and Jamie Susskind of the Wireline Competition Bureau, and Jack Erb of the Office of Strategic Planning and Policy Analysis. The purpose of the meeting was to discuss the “comprehensive data collection order” that is expected to be issued in the coming weeks.¹

In the course of the meeting, Comcast’s representatives stressed the company’s desire to provide information that would be helpful to the Commission’s inquiry. They also generally explained the types of information that Comcast usually maintains in the ordinary course of business concerning the non-switched telecommunications services that it provides. Because Comcast and other cable operators likely do not maintain information about their non-switched offerings in the same format as incumbent local exchange carriers, meeting participants also discussed the need for, and availability of, flexibility in responding to the data request. Finally, Comcast’s representatives noted that the Commission’s data request may seek information that Comcast considers to be very competitively sensitive, and potential measures the Commission could implement to protect this information against disclosure were discussed.
